Accent marks

Two rules tell you where the stress falls. A written accent marks a word that breaks them.

casa · hablan · libros ends in a vowel, n or s: stress the second-to-last syllable hablar · ciudad · reloj ends in any other consonant: stress the last syllable café · canción · árbol · fácil breaks the rule: the accent shows where the stress goes teléfono · música · rápido stress three from the end: always written hablo · habló

I speak · he spoke: the accent changes the meaning

ACCENTS THAT TELL TWO WORDS APART

sí yes	si if tú you	tu your él he	el the
mí me	mi my
sé I know	se oneself, etc.
té tea	te you, to you
más more	mas but (rare) dé give (a form of dar)	de of, from qué, cómo, dónde… in questions and exclamations, even without ¿? (no sé dónde está)	que, como, donde… elsewhere

Capitals too: capital letters keep their accents: Él, Ángel, ÁFRICA.
